

Nature's Head

Nature's Head
Composting Toilet

This composting toilet is self-contained and waterless. It uses 1.5-2.0 gallons of peat moss in the base for your composting matter. The "head" has a unique molded design (with a gray granite color) and incorporates stainless steel components and hardware into a high quality product.

As stated earlier, no external holding tank, no pumpouts, no odor, no clogging! Because of the waterless urine separating design, this unit has extraordinary holding capacity. This could translate into a month usage by a cruising or traveling couple, or perhaps an entire boating or camping season of weekends! The "head" is very compact and space efficient. This is an impressive item!

Solid waste is held in the composting container creating little to no odor due to the peat moss/composting effect. Liquid waste is held in a separate tank (located in the front) completely isolated from the peat moss. Due to the impressive design, both can be emptied with little effort!

Price $850.00

Details here:

Measures:

13.0 inches wide at the base, 17.75 inches front to rear, and is just under 20.0 inches tall!

Price includes: 5 feet vent hose, bottle cap, 12v power plug, and a vent to wall adapter.

PLUS: Easy installation in most applications, simply mount brackets to the floor, vent to the outside (if wanted), and hook up the optional 12v power supply for ventilation! It is that easy!

Made in the USA - Patent Pending